All projects involve an initial consultation, by phone, video call, or in person, to review the unique scope of your home renovation project.

Investigations

Providing virtual concept booklets to pinpoint your preferences is a critical first step to inform the overall design.

Rockland Residence

Kitchens

What elements of each image do you like or dislike? IE: colour but not lights, overall look but not specific tile/floor/counter, etc.

Design Development

3D Renderings

Providing a rendered 3-D for individual rooms, specific features, or the entire space makes the concept tangible, relatable, and it helps get you excited about your new space!

- Concept to include: colour scheme, including finishes, lighting and materials

Finish Selection

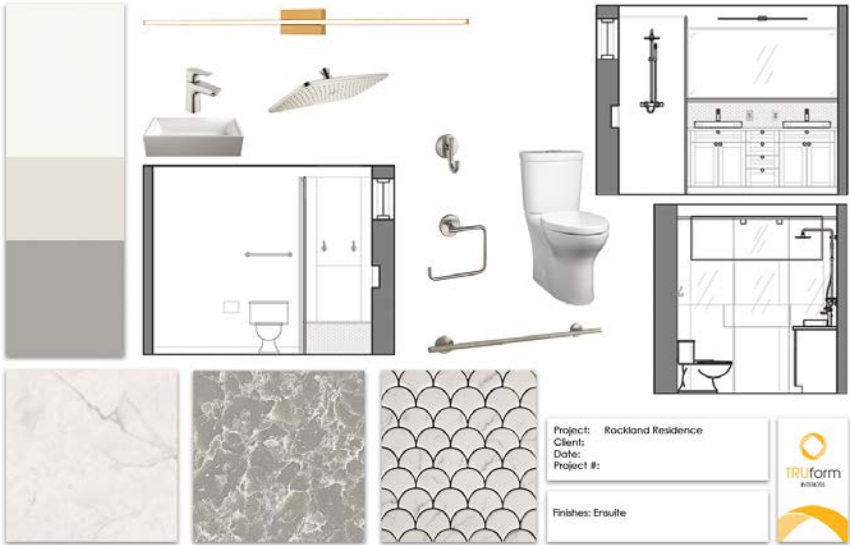

We understand that selecting finishes that are both beautiful and functional can be overwhelming, but that often homeowners want to be heavily involved in this element of design.

- Coordinating showroom tours for flooring, cabinetry, fireplace stone, lighting, plumbing fixtures, and any other aspect

Sample Boards

Preparing a virtual sample board showcases the selected finishes in one place so you can easily visualize how they will integrate. We can also coordinate getting physical samples to you so that you can see the quality first-hand.

Budgeting

When the scope of work has been determined, we'll help select products that are aligned with your overall budget. We can also coordinate budgets for the project as a whole with a general contractor to generate an Order of Magnitude cost estimate.

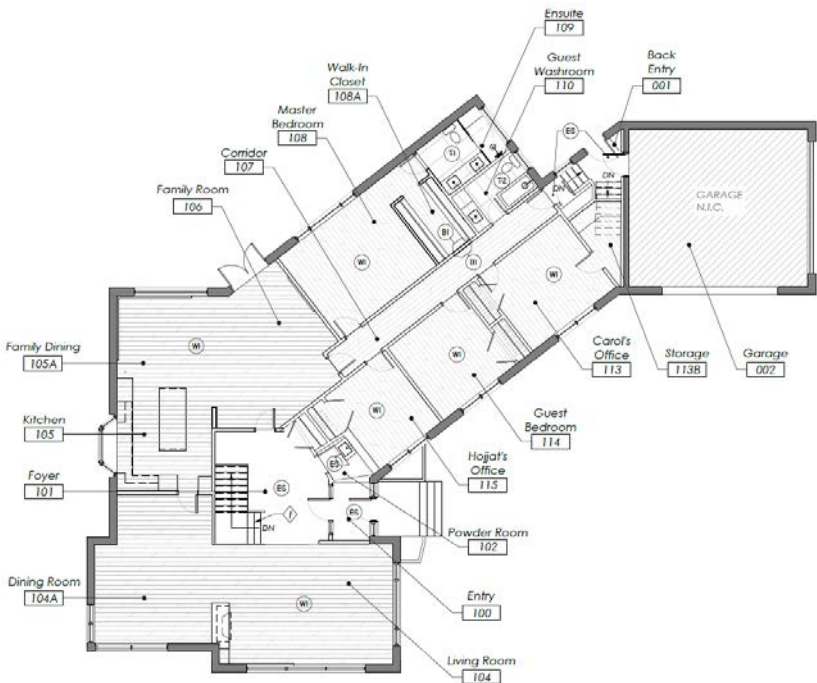

Construction Drawings

One of the most critical steps is conveying the ultimate finishes and materials in a scalable format to the contractor. The Construction Drawings or “blueprints” communicate everything from the demolition to the new work, ceiling treatments and lighting, finishes, power, as well as any speciality millwork, hardware fittings, or design features like fireplace surrounds, entertainment centers, skylights.

Some examples of components of a construction drawing package include:

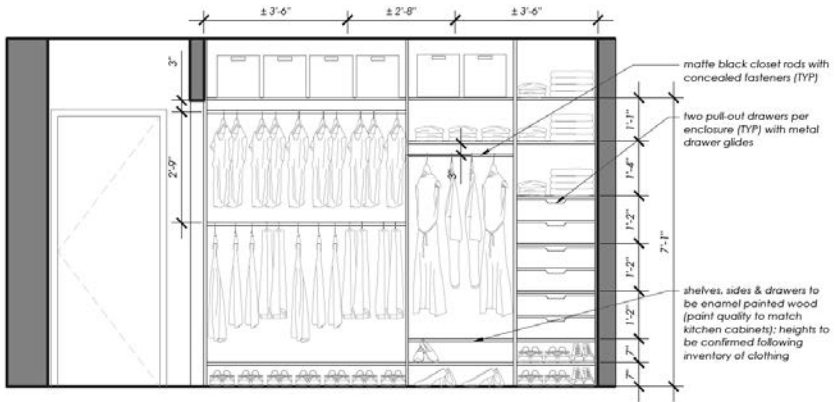

Plans

Including furniture, new construction, ceiling & lighting, power, and wall and floor finishes plans.

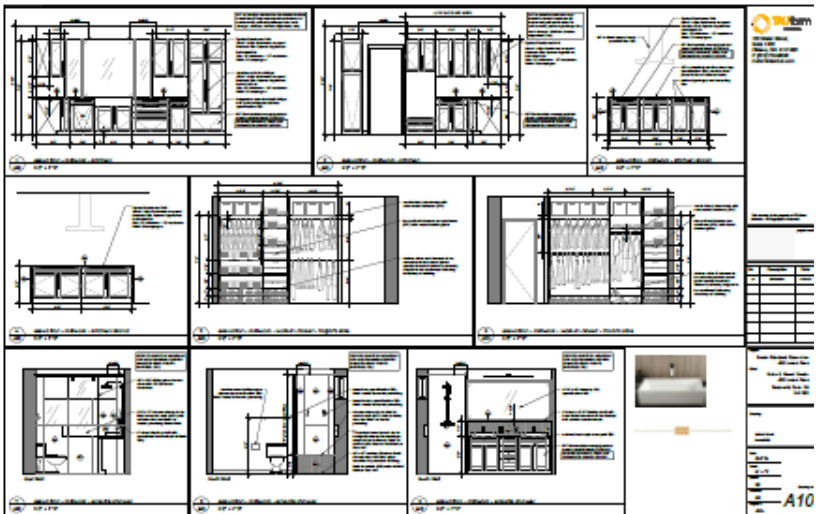

Elevations

Including all custom millwork cabinetry, tile installation, and specialty features as required.

Sections

Including details to convey specific construction of millwork or other elements.

Construction Administration

We want to ensure that your dream home comes together by confirming the construction conforms with the former detailed construction drawings. In order to do so, we prefer to take part in the process during construction, which includes inspection reports to highlight unsatisfactory work.
